

Entre deux eaux
RÉSIDENCE TERRE & TERRITOIRES 3
Morgane Delfosse

“Entre deux eaux” is an exploration of the landscape between Tavers and Thoré-la-Rochette, tracing the footsteps of its youth. Inheriting a unique rural, social, and cultural history, this place is also marked by common questions faced by young adults from many different backgrounds.

As a young photographer, Morgane Delfosse draws deep inspiration from the youth inhabiting this land, as well as their dreams, hopes, and concerns. She seeks to capture the beauty and complexity of this pivotal stage in life, where individuals shape themselves and face the challenges of adulthood.

Through her lens, she sheds light on the aspirations and shared questions of all young people, whether they live in this specific rural region or elsewhere. She explores themes of identity, culture, belonging, and transformation, approaching these subjects with a tender and curious gaze towards those on the path of becoming.

Her passion for immersion and connection allows her to build relationships of trust with her subjects, enabling her to capture authentic and poignant moments. She draws from the energy and vitality of youth while addressing the challenges and questions faced by today's young generation, regardless of whether they come from rural or urban backgrounds.
