The Deauville Planches Contact Festival, founded on the principle of public commissions, welcomes photographers from around the world in residence to document the region from new perspectives.

The works produced are then displayed in large format at various locations throughout the city, creating an open-air gallery. The festival fosters artistic creation and offers a unique visual documentation of Deauville's evolution. It stands out for its ability to transform the urban environment into an open artistic stage, encouraging ongoing creative dialogue between artists and the region.

Artistic Director: Laura Serani
